Timed Session Qualifying

- Any competitor that engages in any unsafe act while on the racing surface (including pit road) or impedes or interferes with another competitor's qualifying attempt, in the sole discretion of ARCA, is subject to disciplinary action by ARCA to protect the integrity and safety of the qualifying procedures.
- Spotter must be in place and checked in with ARCA Official in spotter stand prior to car going on track. One spotter per car on track required.
- All cars will be required to use the blend line (where applicable).
- Timed Session begins when the command is given to release cars. When time expires in the scheduled session, the qualifying session is ended regardless of the disposition of cars on the track.
- In the event of an on-track incident, the Timed Session will stop at the time caution is displayed and will be restarted once the track goes green. Cars on track at the time of caution may go back on track by proceeding directly to pit out; no work can be performed on those cars, cars may end their session by proceeding to designated impound area.
- When qualifying, a timed lap cannot begin or end on pit road.
- A car's best lap time from the session will be the time of record.
- When a car enters pit road, prior to or after taking the green flag, its qualifying session is considered complete, and car is to proceed to designated impound area as directed by ARCA Official.
- If a qualifying session is interrupted at 75% or beyond of the scheduled time limit, the session may be considered complete.
- The car causing the caution to be displayed will not be allowed to return to the track for the remainder of the session.
- The time allotment for qualifying may be adjusted by ARCA Officials in their sole discretion due to adverse conditions or other circumstances.
- Regardless of the time remaining, the qualifying session will be considered complete once all cars have made a qualifying attempt.
- If the qualifying session is interrupted and deemed by ARCA Officials to be incomplete for any reason, field will be set per Rule Book. ARCA Officials, in their sole discretion, will determine if all vehicles have had a reasonable opportunity to qualify.
